When Ms. Sara Jarrell discovered the Andrew Lloyd Webber Foundation's Classroom Initiative grant program, she knew South Miami K-8 Center was a perfect fit.

Her vision was ambitious but practical: updating the school's cafeteria stage with a new LED lighting system, repairing broken fixtures in the curtain rigging system, and making the stage ADA compliant.

The school's proposal specifically requested approximately $6,000 to improve its historic cafeteria's lighting system, transitioning from minimalist par lamps to LED par lamps, along with essential accessories including additional tripods, proper connection cables, software and terminals to program the lights efficiently.

The school was notified of its award in January, received the funds in March, and received all the equipment in April.

The main goals outlined in the proposal were to improve overall performance quality, increase the number of performances held at the school, and influence students to take ownership of the lighting equipment by learning how to operate the updated system.

The Andrew Lloyd Webber Foundation's partnership with the American Theatre Wing specifically targets under-resourced public schools, providing up to $50,000 in funding for essential theater equipment and resources. The program recognizes that quality theater instruction requires proper tools and facilities, supporting teachers like Ms. Jarrell who are working to nurture young talent in their schools.

Grant funds can be used for a wide range of theater essentials, including production equipment like audio and lighting systems, musical instruments, costumes, licensing fees, and even artistic consultants. The program's focus on practical resources reflects an understanding of the real challenges facing public school theater programs.

The timing of the grant has proven particularly beneficial, with the new equipment being integrated into the school's spring show circuit. The upgraded LED lighting system has already enhanced the school's Drama and Music shows, been used to host the Kindergarten crossover ceremony and 5th grade award ceremony, and added flair to the end-of-school dance.

"This award has leveled up our production quality overall. We went from not being able to see the students while on stage to seeing them in technicolor!," said Ms. Jarrell.

For students in the Theater Magnet program at South Miami K-8, these improvements represent more than just better equipment—they signal an investment in their artistic education and creative development.

Cutler Bay Middle School Teacher Cultivates Success Through Grant-Funded Garden Project

Ms. Denise V. Green, an ESOL Developmental ELA teacher at Cutler Bay Middle School, has transformed her classroom's approach to environmental education through a successful grant application that brought new life to the school's garden project.

Ms. Green, who teaches students in the Youth Empowerment Program (Y.E.P.), recognized an opportunity when reviewing the 2024-2025 curriculum that outlined a garden project for students each semester. Determined to secure proper funding, she enrolled in the Beginner's Mini-Grant Writing workshop hosted by the Office of Grants Administration to learn how to support her "Serenity Garden Project Initiative."

When Miami-Dade County distributed a list of available grants, the GroMoreGood Grassroots Grant caught her attention. The grant, brought to communities by The Scotts Miracle-Gro Foundation and KidsGardening, awards $500 to each of 170 programs nationwide serving under-resourced communities. Despite being a first-time grant writer, Green applied through her organization, Green Pathways to Success Inc.

After a two-month wait, Ms. Green received exciting news: her program had been selected based on demonstrated need and community impact. The $500 award arrived in April 2025, funding essential materials including gloves, seeds, watering equipment, and topsoil.

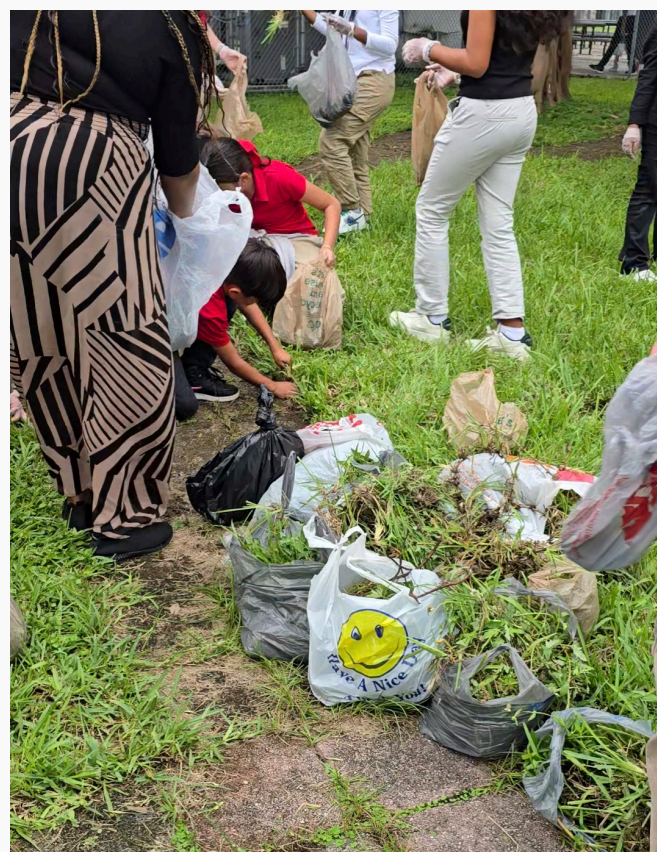

Continued...

The project quickly expanded beyond the classroom. Ms. Green invited the school's Ecology Club to participate, while local church volunteers helped prepare garden beds, paint the shed, add a bench, and plant flowers. This community collaboration created what students now call the "Warrior Serenity Garden."

The impact has been remarkable. Students have become more inquisitive about plant and animal life, taking weekly responsibility for watering and maintaining their garden space. They've successfully grown blooming flowers and vegetables, developing a sense of ownership and environmental stewardship.

"This has been a transformative project that fostered both environmental stewardship and curiosity in our students. Our 'Warrior Serenity Garden' has become a meaningful space for learning, collaboration, and growth, for the children and the plants," said Ms. Green.

Ms. Green's success story highlights the value of professional learning in grant writing. The Office of Grants Administration will announce additional grant writing workshops in August to help more educators secure funding for innovative classroom projects.

TEACH Grant

The TEACH Grant Program provides grants of up to $4,000 a year to students who are completing or plan to complete course work needed to begin a career in teaching. A TEACH Grant-eligible program is a program of study that is designed to prepare you to teach as a highly qualified teacher in a high-need field and that leads to a bachelor's or master's degree or is a postbaccalaureate program. A two-year program that is acceptable for full credit toward a bachelor's degree is considered a program that leads to a bachelor's degree. A postbaccalaureate program is not TEACH-Grant-eligible if it is offered by a school that also offers a bachelor's degree in education.

Schools that participate in the TEACH Grant Program determine which of the programs they offer are TEACH-Grant-eligible. A program that is TEACH-Grant-eligible at one school might not be TEACH-Grant-eligible at another school. Additionally, even if a program meets the eligibility requirements to be a TEACH-Grant-eligible program, it may not be designated as TEACH-Grant-eligible by the school. Contact the financial aid office at the school you are attending (or that you plan to attend) to find out which programs at that school are eligible.
